OBITUARIES

Because We Care

What to Expect From Your Funeral Director

Much goes into planning a funeral. A funeral director's job is to assist the family with as many tasks as possible to relieve the burden and feeling overwhelmed. They offer comfort, support, guidance, and an open ear. In addition to overseeing funeral arrangements and preparing the body, a funeral director assists families with the steps they must take after a death, such as obtaining and filing death certificates, burial permits, and other legally required paperwork. In addition to filing essential paperwork, your funeral director can arrange transportation of the deceased, notify newspapers, and oversee visitations. Other helpful tasks may include prepaying vendor expenses, receiving sympathy cards, meeting the family at the home where the death took place, and round-the-clock availability.

Our compassionate staff is committed to serving you in your time of need. We will do everything in our power to make your experience meaningful and memorable. Each family is treated the way we would want our families to be treated. When the time comes for you to arrange funeral services for a loved one, please call 203-239-1179 for more information. You are welcome to visit us at 36 Washington Avenue.

Quote: "Life is eternal, and love is immortal; and death is only a horizon; and a horizon is nothing save the limit of our sight.
