PHOTOS

University celebrates diversity at 'Cultural Fest'

By Carly Russell
Photo Editor

On Wednesday, April 23, the annual Cultural Fest was held on campus in the Academic Quad. This year's theme was, "Connecting Culture & Community." Attendees had the chance to try a variety of cultural cuisines provided by Sodexo and enjoy music by DJ Fire. The event was coordinated through the Center for Intercultural Engagement and sponsored by the Multicultural Center.

Photos: Carly Russell

See full story on page 1

The 'Cultural Fest' set up in the Academic Quad.

PHOTOS | CARLY RUSSELL

Students gathered outside Buley Library, dancing to music by DJ Fire.

Anthropology major Quinn Bellin, a junior, communication major Kobe Ransome, a freshman and social work major Jeda Jackson, a sophomore.

Communication major Anthony Zechello, sport management major Amanda Paredes, communication major Sam Harmon and business major Jordan Patrick, seniors.

Students tie-dye at the Campus Community Garden

Students tie-dyeing bandanas and other items.

By Carly Russell
Photo Editor

On Thursday, April 24, the Innovation Hub sponsored a tye-dye event at the Campus Commuity Garden. While enjoying the long awaited warm spring weather, students were provided with free items to dye. Students were also able to learn about the Innovation Hub office's services as well as the Campus Community Garden.

Photos: Carly Russell

PHOTOS | LILY RAND

Free items provided to tye-dye.

Graduate assistant Allison Kross doing a give away and helping to share job opportunities.

Computer science major Sana Muneer, a senior and Innovation Hub Program Coordinator Nina Musco.