PHOTOS

Homecoming spirit takes over campus

Lily Rand
Photo Editor

On Saturday, Oct. 10, the university celebrated "Homecoming and Family Weekend" with events that brought students, families, alumni and friends together across campus. The festivities began with "Pep Rally" on Thursday, Oct. 8, in the Wintergreen Parking Lot, where students gathered to meet athletic teams and build excitement ahead of the Homecoming football game. The energy carried into Saturday as visitors checked in for "Family Day," tested their skills in the "Owl Family Games" and reconnected with friends and classmates throughout campus. Crowds gathered at the "Owl Tailgate" in the Brownell Parking Lot. The "Owl Fan Zone" in Wintergreen Parking Lot allowed people the opportunity to win prizes at different carnival games and get something to eat from various food trucks. They then made their way to Jess Dow Field for the Homecoming football game. The weekend concluded with a 35-28 victory for the Owls over Monroe University. As fans celebrated in the stands, chants of "S-C!" and "S-U!" rang out across the field, bringing a spirited weekend of Owl pride and tradition to a memorable close.

Photos: Lily Rand

For more on the story look at page 1

Students, families and alumni getting something to eat at the food trucks.

PHOTO | MATEUSZ GAZDZICKI

Running back John Amaning, a graduate, bumping heads with offensive lineman Anthony Lubrano, a sophomore.

PHOTO | MATEUSZ GAZDZICKI

Running back John Amaning, a graduate, scoring.

Otus the Owl standing on the sidelines cheering on the team.

The university's cheer team in the middle of a cheer for the Owls.

PHOTO | MATEUSZ GAZDZICKI

Running back Anthony Rudiman, a senior, in the endzone.

Students and their family playing wack-a-mole to win a free prize.

Football alumni players from 2006 taking the field for a photo.

The university's Blue Steel Drumline playing the drums in the stands.

The football team holding up their helmets during the playing of the National Anthem.

Students, families and alumni in the stands.

The dance team in the middle of a dance on the sidelines.

The cheer team holding up the university's letters in their stunts to show school spirit.