You can help prevent animal cruelty

DEAR PAWS CORNER: It seems like every day I see another news story about animals being rescued from terrible situations: hoarding, breeding mills and so on. I want to help, but I can't keep animals due to my apartment building's rules. What can I do? I'm tired of feeling helpless. - Macy G., Smyrna, Georgia notes.

DEAR MACY: You are awesome. Thank you for wanting to step in and take action to stop animal abuse. That's the first, most important step.

Now, here's the next step: You can make a difference right in your community, primarily by being watchful and noticing the pets and other animals in the neighborhood. Does a neighbor's dog look emaciated or cower around their owner? Take privately share information.

On your daily drive, notice the animals that you pass. Is there a house with a lot of animals living outside? If you pass a farm or barn that has livestock or horses, how do the animals look? Are their ribs showing? Do they seem neglected?

- From here, take steps:
- Talk to your neighbors. Learn whether they've noticed the same things.
 - Create a WhatsApp or Signal group where members can

- Get the phone number and email address of the local authority where you can make reports about possible animal cruelty. This may be animal control or the police department.
- When you make a report, include as many details as possible.

Another way to get involved is to support your local animal shelter. Donate funds, food or bedding. Ask about volunteering a few hours a month. Shelters are often the first place that rescued animals are taken to - and the more resources they have, the better they can respond to the needs of these victims.

Plant sale May 16

The Pomperaug Valley Garden Club will hold its 15th Annual Plant Sale on Saturday, May 16, from 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Hollow Park Pavilion in Hollow Park off Hollow Road in Woodbury. Ample parking is available at the Pavilion. The sale is RAIN or SHINE.

It will once again feature hardy, member-grown perennials for sun and shade, plus pollinator-friendly and native plants, ferns, hostas, and groundcovers as well as trees and shrubs. A limited selection of colorful annuals, along with herbs and tomatoes will be available. All the perennials are locally grown and dug by garden club members, ensuring that buyers are getting a plant that thrives here.

Check our website, pomperaugvalleygc.org, the week of the sale. We hope to post a preliminary list of plants we expect to have. (No reservation requests, advance sales, or early birds, please!)

The sale will include a treasure-filled, garden-themed White Elephant Sale, including unique finds for gardening enthusiasts. Our popular alpaca nesting balls also will be available.

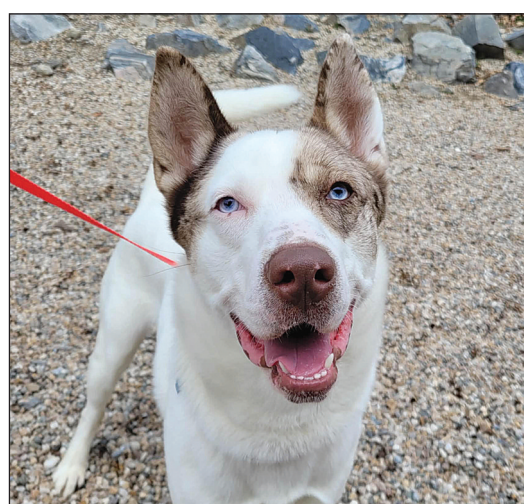

A large variety of plants have been offered at past Pomperaug Valley Garden Club sales. Visit this year's sale on May 16. (Submitted photo)

Proceeds from the sale help fund the garden club's civic beautification and outreach projects, which include gardens and planters throughout Woodbury, holiday wreaths and swags for all town buildings, the award-winning Botany Trail and two registered Monarch Waystations, one at Flanders Nature Center and Land Trust and one at the Woodbury Public Library. The club also sponsors demonstrations and lectures throughout the year, an annual $1,000 college scholarship and more.

The Pomperaug Valley Garden Club, founded in 1927, will be celebrating its Centennial anniversary over the next 12 months, kicking off the festivities with a flower-festooned float in Woodbury's Memorial Day Parade on May 24 - look for us there and watch for special events over the summer and fall. The club is a charter member of the Federated Garden Clubs of Connecticut, Inc., the New England Garden Clubs, Inc., and National Garden Clubs, Inc., and is one of the oldest garden clubs in the state.

Adopt a Rescue Pet

BROOKLYN

Brooklyn is a male 15-month-old Catahoula/Husky/Hound mix. He is not good with cats, but he is good with older kids and dogs his size. In addition to being house trained, he is very active and loves to play. To adopt him, apply at www.brasscityrescue.org.

BRIGHT EYES

Bright Eyes is 3 1/2 years old. Underneath his shy exterior he is a sweet, gentle boy who loves people, gets along with other cats, and even "listens" when you talk to him. He'd love a quiet place to feel safe and show you much love he has to give. Please apply at WhiskersPetRescue.org.
