PHOTOS

Pop up shop: retro finds & campus vibes

By Carly Russell
Photo Editor

On March 27, a thrifting pop-up event was held outside of the Adanti Student Center's Dunkin. The event was a collaboration between three Instagram shops, @Jorgesarchive, @Mizothrifts and. Owners Mike Izzo and Jorge Sampedro operate their individual shops primarily off of Instagram, but join together to hold pop-up events in New York, Connecticut and Boston. They have previously visited UConn and UMass Boston.

Photos: Carly Russell

Communication major Angela Nappe, a freshman.

PHOTOS | CARLY RUSSELL

Students looking through clothes being sold by Mizothrifts and Jorgesarchive.

Vendors of the pop-up shop, Mike Izzo of Mizothrifts, Jorge Sampedro of Jorgesarchive and Adonai R. Johan.

Interdisciplinary studies major Sarah Kahn, a senior, business administration major Stevie Gholston, a junior and nursing major Samantha Luong, a senior.

Students bring their own stuffed friends to life

By Carly Russell
Photo Editor

On March 26, the Programs Council hosted the "Stuff a Plush" event in Engleman Hall Room B121. In this do-it-yourself event, students were able to pick from a variety of a plush toys, and stuff them to take home. The event aimed to provide a fun and relaxing break from classes, allowing participants to de-stress while making a cuddly keepsake.

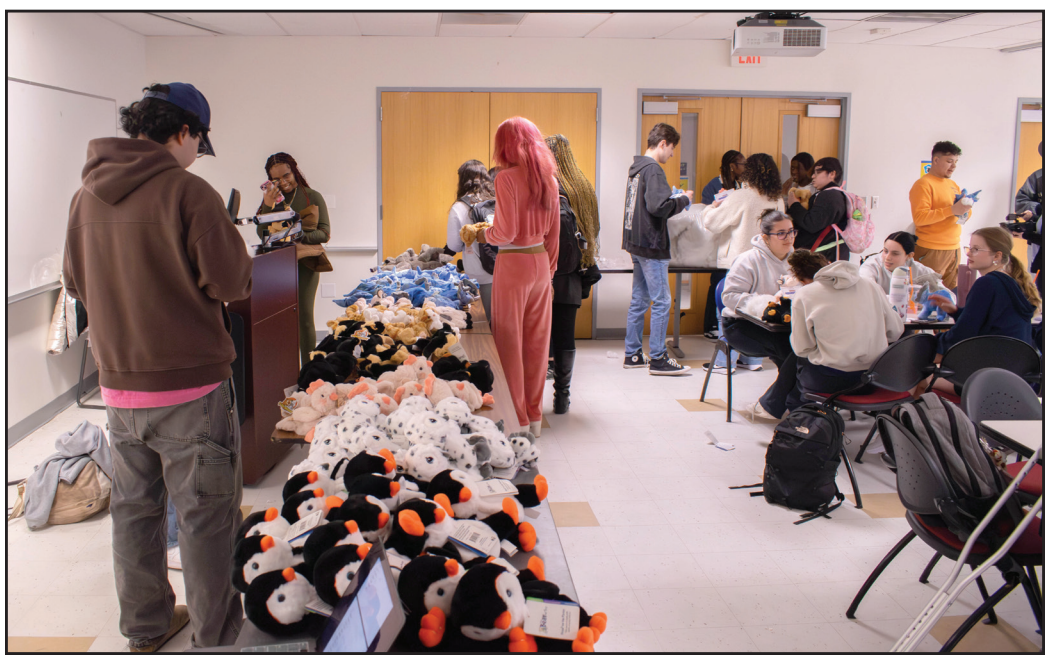

Photos: Lily Rand

PHOTOS | LILY RAND

Nursing majors Erin Sola and Vanessa Aquino, and elementary education major, Alexa Europa, freshmen.

Plush toys made by students.

Various plush toy options for students to pick from and stuff.

Communication disorder major Ashley Donahue and English major Bekah Crowley, sophomores.