BULLETIN

This Day in Yale History, 1974

September 23, 1986 / Trumbull dedicates chapel; Squash court arises anew

By Mead Treadwell

The John Spangler Nicholas Chapel in Trumbull opens with a dedication ceremony today. The chapel, designed and architected by students, was converted from a squash court over the last six months. In addition to serving as a religious space, it will also hold music and theater productions.

Behind the Headline

By Anna Koontz

I visited Lighthouse Point Park last Friday to meet with the New Haven parks director and explore the reopened grounds post-storm. Entering the park, I saw monarch butterflies soaring over mangled remains of picnic tables. When I uncapped my water bottle, the metal canister hummed in the passing breeze. This was a place where the natural and manmade intersected and aligned, where one shore viewed the city skyline and another faced endless outstretched water. My experiences and conversations with experts and community members helped me appreciate the park's ecological and societal importance, as well as the difficulties to maintain it. This is the story of a beloved New Haven park, but beyond that, it's a story of community resilience and adaptation in the face of climate change.

Read "Iconic seaside park reopens after storm" on page 1.

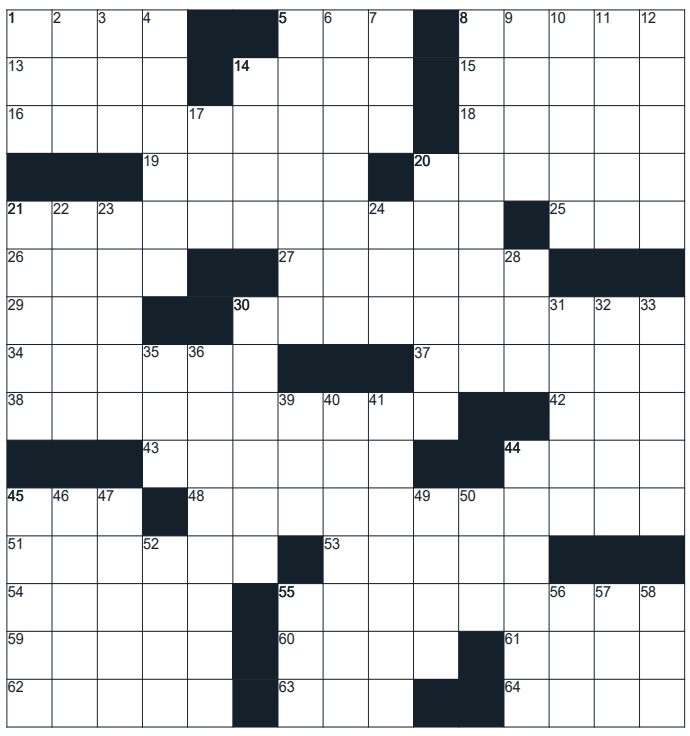

Puzzle by Ariana Borut '27

ACROSS
1 Old Campus dorm that houses Davenport and Grace Hopper, familiarly
5 Greek fable writer
7 Remote control button
8 Artemis II org.
9 ___ as a fox

DOWN
1 Unit in track or swimming
2 Residential college academic officers
3 Typical
4 Prone to micro managing, maybe
6 Vegetable in a pod

ILLUSTRATION BY MADDIE BUTCHKO

ACROSS
1. One type of line (Abbr.)
5. Part of some hoops
8. Detective clues
13. Norse capital
14. Message (to)
15. Dig
16. Salts, for example
18. Garden flower
19. Object
20. Produce
21. Film with a memorable twist?
25. Fish eggs
26. Mimic
27. Whichever
29. "What was ___ think?"
30. Film with a memorable baby?
34. "Don't know"
37. Knows about
38. Film with a memorable mirror?
42. Give: Sp.
43. Employee-owned supermarket chain based in Florida
44. South Asian garment
45. Big sum
48. Cinematic late bloomer... or a descriptor of the theme clues
51. Post online, perhaps
53. First Hebrew letter
54. Cam Skattebo, for example
55. Banana-like fruits
59. Pointed weapon
60. Hip bones
61. Senior dance
62. Terminated
63. Where you might find rats or mats?
64. Tasty stuff, informally

DOWN
1. Marty's counterpart, in film
2. Somewhat
3. Who a conductor might call "aboard"
4. Goal of most celebrities (and managers)
5. Dieter
6. Reason why you might have a hard time getting going?
7. Some E.R. personnel
8. Neural networks, in a sense
9. Effortlessness
10. Smell of a rose
11. Because of
12. Tantalizing prospect for a shopper
14. California's ____ Valley
17. Certain recipient of many shouts at the TV
20. Estate sharer
21. What might light up a room?
22. ____ point (only so far)
23. Sainted 11th-century pope
24. "___ not your fault"
28. Density symbol
30. Listener, for one?
31. "__ a Man" (Calder Willingham novel and play)
32. Company behind Pong
33. Column style
35. Nacho partner
36. Well-versed
39. Bedridden
40. Critically
41. Shout
44. Snaky double curve
45. Daily ____, "Spider-Man" newspaper
46. Bee-like
47. Saliva secreter
49. Singer Horne
50. Apropos
52. Years ago
55. Big Bad Wolf's target
56. Portfolio holding, for short
57. Boolean negator
58. Texting format, in brief

ILLUSTRATION BY CLARIS SHIN